

GLORY 64 REWIND

The world's premier stand-up combat league made its return to France for the first time in 2019, where the best "stand up combat" talent in the world was on display for Glory 64 at the Rhenus Sport arena in Strasbourg.

It was an action-packed night filled with top ranked fighters from across Glory's seven weight divisions, featuring key bouts with title implications.

On this edition of Glory Rewind, current and former champions collide for the Glory Super Bantamweight and Welterweight World Titles. Also, top action in the featherweight, welterweight, and heavyweight divisions were on display.

We start with highlights from 2 devastating knockouts in both Middleweight and Heavyweight divisions. That was followed by two fights with title implications when #2 Abdellah Ezbiri faced #4 Anvar Boynazarov in Featherweight action, then #1 ranked Alim Nabiev took on #3 Murthel Groenhart in a critical Welterweight match up.

Then it was time for two title fights back to back when first Anissa Meksen took on Tiffany Van Soest for the Glory Super Bantamweight title. That was followed by defending champion, Harut Grigorian taking on former champion Cedric Doumbe for the Welterweight Championship of the world.

Don't forget to check out all things GLORY on our website, glorykickboxing.com or follow us on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram as well as catch up on Glory features and fights on our You Tube Channel.