

Episode Synopses for May 2022

Feed Date	Episode #	Synopses
05.05.22	IV-105 REV	When a cabinet maker fails to deliver on promised projects, Inside Investigations takes him to the woodshed. Plus, when a woman's financial account is hacked and her identity is stolen, her bank blames her spending habits and refuses to refund her money. See how Inside Investigations makes her whole. And the Federal Trade Commission tracks the latest scams and tells consumers what to watch out for and how to avoid being taken.
05.12.22	IV-106 REV	Would you sell your home for hundreds of thousands less than it's worth? Inside Investigations goes undercover to expose a real estate investing trend taking advantage of vulnerable homeowners. Plus, it's predatory lending in a place you'd never suspect. Inside Investigations examines why that doggie in the window will cost future pet owners much more than they thought. And this could happen to you , when a valet backs into a parked car, the car owner has to foot the bill. Inside Investigations reveals quirky private property laws ever driver needs to know before they pull into a parking lot.
05.19.22	IV-107 REV	When thousands of people pay hundreds of dollars to be close to the stars of the runaway hit The Walking Dead , their excitement turns to anger when events are cancelled and promoters keep their cash. Inside Investigations examines a Tennessee business behind the walker stalker debacle. Plus, watch Inside Investigations confront a salty deck contractor about his shoddy craftsmanship. And this could happen to you , a woman is forced to pay double the interest rate to keep her deceased husband's car. Inside Investigations exposes a hidden loophole in thousands of car leases.
05.26.22	IV-108 REV	Inside Investigations examines a check fraud scheme that stretches from coast to coast that's costing American consumers and businesses millions of dollars every year. Plus, it's the latest trend in the optical industry, remote eye examines. Inside Investigations takes a look at the drawbacks and helps one customer get a long-awaited refund. And this could happen to you , when a woman fills up her tank with tainted gas, nobody wants to take responsibility. See how Inside Investigations makes it right. -
06.02.22	IV-109 REV	Inside Investigations speaks with a 90-year-old grandma who wired thousands of dollars to con-artists pretending to be her grandson. Inside Investigations uncovers a cruel imposter scam that's forcing money wiring services to re-think their business models. Plus, who hasn't had a package stolen from their home? Inside Investigations examines how states are cracking down on porch pirates and what steps consumers can take to prevent their packages from getting poached. And, when Inside Investigations discovers a major retailer charging Georgians a California recycling fee, Inside Investigations takes them to task. -