

Episode Synopses for December 2021

Feed Date	Episode #	Synopsis
12.09.21	IV-113	When a trip of a lifetime is cancelled due to pandemic, thousands of teenage musicians lose millions of prepaid funds. Find out why the tour company says they can keep the cash. And an international criminal ring is targeting job seekers with opportunities to earn a living, Inside Investigations exposes the scam. And if you've been in a car accident, Inside Investigations shows consumers how not to get burned by a diminished value broker.
12.16.21	IV-114	'Tis the season to be scammed. Inside Investigations exposes how generous and how vulnerable Americans are during the holiday season. And whatever happen to customer service? We'll show how two major shipping companies bumble a package delivery but nobody will take the blame. See how Inside Investigations makes it right. And have you've ever locked your keys in your car? Before you google for help, watch as Inside Investigations reveal the secrets inside a nationwide scheme that is costing drivers big dollars.
12.23.21	IV-115	A scammer impersonating a police officer is calling citizens and threatening arrest unless they pay a bogus fine. Inside Investigations is asking viewers to help identify and put a stop to this imposter crime. And when Inside Investigations discovers a common home insulation method is making it difficult for many Americans to re-sell their home, Inside Investigations shows both sides of a debate. Plus, when a pool contractor leaves a disabled senior citizen high and dry, Inside Investigations dives in to help.
12.30.21	IV-116	When one family purchases a newly renovated home, they find out too late that the house flipper is a fraud. Inside Investigations shows you a real house of horrors and how a community of great businesses comes together to make it right. And after a painting company does a sloppy job on one man's door, Inside Investigations demands answers and accountability. Plus, this could happen to you – a misplaced decimal point results in an $8,200 overpayment, we'll share what one consumer did to get the attention of a media giant to finally get a refund.